

ILLINOIS ADDED TO THE WILSON COLUMN

CARRIES THE SUCKER STATE BY TWO THOUSAND ACCORDING TO LATE RETURNS.

INCREASES HIS FIGURE

Gives Him 461 Electoral Votes With Possibly Pennsylvania Yet To Follow The Leader.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 7.—Illinois has joined the Wilson column by at least two thousand majority, is the report this afternoon at democratic headquarters. This gives Wilson 431 electoral votes and every state in the union except Idaho, Utah and Vermont credited to Taft and Michigan and South Dakota credited to Roosevelt with Pennsylvania, thought to be for Roosevelt in doubt. The landslide is now declared complete.

Spends Quiet Day.
Oyster Bay, Nov. 7.—Colonel Roosevelt spent the day quietly at home analyzing the election returns.

Claim Illinois.
Chicago, Nov. 7.—Reports to democratic national headquarters here, according to Joseph E. Davies, western manager, are that Wilson has a small plurality in Illinois, with twenty-three counties missing. The missing counties, he states, are southern counties which have been consistently democratic.

Socialist Claims.
Columbus, Nov. 7.—Socialist state headquarters today claimed that the socialist vote in Ohio ran close to 100,000 at Tuesday's election.

Will Longworth Lose?
Cincinnati, Nov. 7.—As a result of errors found in the unofficial count the race between Congressman Nicholas Longworth, republican, and Stanley Bowdye, democrat, for congress in the first Ohio congressional district, is in doubt.

North Dakota Result.
Grand Forks, N. D., Nov. 7.—With republican state headquarters conceding that Woodrow Wilson has carried North Dakota by from 4,000 to 8,000, democratic headquarters conceding the election of L. B. Hannah, republican for governor by from 3,000 to 4,000 and the election of the republican state and congressional tickets by substantial majorities. North Dakota's election is practically decided. The state legislature will be republican probably with a majority of 33 in a membership of 149 and the election of A. A. Bruce over J. E. Robinson, in the non-partisan contest for the supreme court the judgeship is assured.

Minnesota to Roosevelt.
St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 7.—Minnesota apparently has swung from Wilson to Roosevelt and the colonel probably carry the state by about 15,000. Roosevelt found his greatest strength in the rural districts. Governor Elbert H. Hart has been re-elected by a plurality ranging from 30,000 to 40,000. The election of the entire republican state ticket is practically assured. Senator Knute Nelson is leading all the republican state candidates.

Wilson Wins Illinois.
Chicago, Nov. 7.—Col. Roosevelt's lead in Illinois, which early returns gave him, has been reduced by later figures to less than 5,000 over Gov. Wilson, and early today democratic national committeeman Charles Boeschenstein claimed that complete returns will give Wilson a plurality of 15,000 in the state. Complete returns from 60 counties including Cook and estimates based on partial returns from the remaining 42 counties give Roosevelt a plurality of 1,175.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—The Thanksgiving proclamation in part is as follows: "A God-fearing nation like ours owes its debt of gratitude to the All-Giver of the countless benefits it has enjoyed. The year now drawing to a close has been notably favorable to our fortunate land. At peace within and without, free from the perturbations and calamities that have afflicted other peoples, rich in harvest so abundant and industries so productive that the overflow of our prosperity has advantaged the whole world, strong in the steadfast conservation of the heritage of self-government bequeathed to us by the wisdom of our fathers, and firm in the resolve to transmit that heritage unimpaired but rather improved by good use to our children and our children's children for all times to come, the people of this country have abundant cause for continued gratitude."

PRIVATE BUSINESS REASON OF VISIT

Says Gov. Hadley, But He Does Not Deny He Will Confer With Taft About Second Place on Ticket.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Gov. Hadley did not see President Taft on the train on the way to Washington. Mr. Hadley said he had an engagement to meet the president at the White House later, but had not fixed the hour.

While the governor said he had come to Washington on private business, he did not deny that he would talk with Mr. Taft about taking second place on the republican ticket to go before the electoral college.

Mr. Taft found a gist of routine business awaiting his return and some special things to look after. There is a commission on industrial relations, authorized by the last session of congress to be appointed; a successor to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley as chief of the bureau of chemistry, to be selected, and a new commissioner of Indian affairs to be appointed to succeed Robert G. Valentine. Most important of all the work waiting for the president is his annual message to congress.

Possibilities of an extra session are discussed with animation everywhere in Washington. Many democrats are convinced there will be one.

Several of the president's callers, among them a cabinet officer who had conferred in the executive offices during the early part of the day, expressed the opinion that Gov. Hadley would decline to take second place. One who is close to Hadley declared that the Missouri governor would consider it an "empty honor."

KANSAS SCHOOL TEACHERS FIFTIETH ANNUAL MEETING.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 7.—School teachers from every part of Kansas have gathered in the capital for the fiftieth annual meeting of their state association. The meeting will be continued over tomorrow and will be combined with a celebration of the association's golden jubilee. Leading men of the state will review the advancement of education during the half century that has elapsed since the association was organized. Other topics are to be dealt with by noted educators from outside the state, including President David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford University, Dr. David E. Smith of Columbia University, Dr. Isabel Bovier of the University of Illinois, and Mrs. Thorne-Thomson of the University of Chicago.

WILSON TO REMAIN GOVERNOR OF STATE TO ADVANCE REFORM

President-Elect Says He Will Not Retire From Progressive Fight He Has Waged in New Jersey.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Princeton, Nov. 7.—Just because Woodrow Wilson is the president-elect of the United States, he does not, he asserts, intend to retire from the fight he has waged for two years for a program of progressive legislation in New Jersey. Mr. Wilson said today he would "stay on the job at Trenton" until he had carried out his reforms, but with a democratic legislature behind him, this is likely to be a smooth process when the legislature convenes on January 1.

Though campaigning vigorously for the presidency, Gov. Wilson concentrated earnest appeals in New Jersey and nothing gives him more satisfaction than the fact that not only is New Jersey to be represented by two democrats in the United States senate, but for the first time in his administration as governor, both houses of the state legislature will be democratic.

Program of Reforms.

A year ago he stumped the state to obtain a democratic legislature, but was beaten. The president-elect said today that the program of reforms he had in mind for the state would be advanced by the fact that as the future execution of the country, nation wide attention probably would be attracted by his policy in the New Jersey legislature.

"Whatever we do in New Jersey," he said, "will have the force of the whole country behind you." The governor has not announced his program for the next session of the legislature, but it is likely that after he takes a brief vacation he will call a conference of state leaders and a progressive program will be mapped out.

Constitutional Convention.

The democratic state platform recommends a constitutional convention. It is known that the governor wants to have the corporation laws of the state revised. The reform in this connection he declares he never had an opportunity of putting through because the legislature was not with him. When Gov. Wilson resigns in accordance with the state constitution, the president of the state senate will become governor until the next regular election which is due next fall.

McGOVERN'S ELECTION IS NOW CLAIMED BY VERY SMALL MARGIN

UNOFFICIAL RETURNS GIVE GOVERNOR BEST OF RACE FOR CHIEF EXECUTIVE OF STATE.

LACK FOUR COUNTIES

Three Thousand Plurality is Claimed By Chairman Scott of the Republican State Central Committee This Afternoon.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Milwaukee, Nov. 7.—In the face of the present returns it would appear that Judge Karel has been defeated for the election of governor by Francis E. McGovern. However, indications point to a very small majority and it may be several days until the official count is made, that the final result is known.

Returns from 77 out of 71 counties in Wisconsin as received by republican state chairman, George B. Scott, give McGovern a lead of about 3,000 votes. Mr. Scott says the remaining counties still to be heard from are republican strongholds and he bases McGovern's final plurality at approximately 5,000.

Returns from various parts of the state are very slow in coming in but it is expected that all will be completed by Friday, when the official count is made in the various counties. Wilson's lead continues to be a matter of doubt but is predicted to be between ten and twenty thousand.

There is no question but that suffrage has been lost by an overwhelming majority in the state at large. The exact figures are not given as yet.

Latest complete returns from La Crosse county give for governor, Karel 3,361; McGovern 3,583. Winnebago county complete: Karel 4,390; McGovern 5,490; McGovern's majority 1,100.

Racine county gives Karel 1,472 and McGovern 2,961.

Marathon county gives Karel 4,355; McGovern 3,853. 13 precincts give 873 for woman suffrage, 4,451 against.

Ashland county gives Karel 1,198; McGovern 1,641. For suffrage 744 against 856.

Chippewa county complete gives McGovern 2,506; Karel 2,277. The majority against woman suffrage is estimated at 1,900.

Brown county complete gives Karel 2,080; McGovern 3,934. 10 precincts out of 32 give 2102 against suffrage and 1004 for it.

Out of 45 of 66 precincts in Dane county McGovern gets 7,248 as against 5,699 for Karel. The same precincts show woman suffrage defeated by 1,758.

Aside from McGovern, the rest of the republican ticket is leading McGovern.

Racine county complete gives for governor, Karel 3,314; McGovern 3,725. Hill 229, Thompson 517, Curtis 92. Suffrage was defeated 4,730 to 2,261.

Outagamie county gives Karel 2,807; McGovern 4,076. 28 precincts in Douglas county give Karel 1,862; McGovern 2,205. Suffrage polled 2,254 and 1,165 against.

Madison, Nov. 7.—Senator La Follette refused to make any statements on the election results today.

Receives Congratulations.

Madison, Nov. 7.—Governor McGovern today received many groups of callers who called at the executive office to offer congratulations.

OPENED CONVENTION OF STATE TEACHERS

Milwaukee, Nov. 7.—Wisconsin teachers assembled in Milwaukee today for their 60th annual convention. The opening meeting was held in the arena of the Auditorium. The program began with singing by students of the 7th and 8th grades under the direction of Miss Helen Poole. Mayor Bading made an address of welcome. Mrs. Mary Davidson Bradford, Kenosha president of the Wisconsin Teachers' Association, in her annual address at the auditorium this morning reminded teachers of their larger opportunities to build up the ideals of their communities by publicly presenting and endorsing questions and causes of vital educational importance.

County boards of education to take charge of all schools except those in cities administered by boards of education and city superintendents of schools are advocated in the report of the legislative committee submitted to the State Teachers' Association in the auditorium today by C. E. Patzer.

ROSA TALKED OF IN SPEAKERSHIP FIGHT

Rock County Man Suggested As McGovern-Leader in the Assembly.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Nov. 7.—In the defeat of J. P. McConnell of La Crosse for re-election to the assembly, after having been considered as the La Follette candidate for speaker, will precipitate a scramble for that office. Prominently mentioned today is Meritt Hull of Black River Falls, who pushed rural school legislation at the last two sessions. Others considered that T. J. Mahon of Elgin is practically eliminated because of his affiliation with the Bull Moose organization. Ray J. Nye of Superior, who has served in the three sessions, it is believed will get the McGovern backing. Judge Rosa of Beloit is prominently mentioned. La Follette leaders are silent.

"The company does not need bread to live," says the statement of the union, "while we and our families do." "I had not known that the strike had been called off," said Manager Warren of the company. "I had thought that the matter had died out."

WILSON MAINTAINS SILENCE IN REGARD TO VARIOUS ISSUES

President-elect Declares He Will Maintain Receptive Attitude But Will Not Commit Himself Before Inauguration.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 7.—"I think my right course just now is to hear everybody and that I shall not make any statements."

This was the answer made by President-elect Woodrow Wilson today to a series of requests for statements of his attitude on national and international questions.

He was asked by various newspapers about an extra session of congress; Canadian reciprocity, international relations, the Panama canal, and a variety of issues.

In line with his campaign argument that the presidency should be conducted "through the common counsel of the country," he will now, so far as possible, assume a receptive attitude rather than one of pronouncing himself on issues before he takes office.

The president-elect looked eagerly toward a big basket of mail filled to overflowing. It appeared that he would continue his custom of opening all mail himself. He likes to do it.

"You know that I can recognize the typewriters of some of my personal friends," he mused. "I don't know just how I do it. I guess I'll need a tonic to go through that pile, though."

SPLIT TICKETS IN NEW LONDON, WIS.

Not One Straight Ballot Was Cast in Tuesday's Vote—May Contest Kaukauna Election.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Appleton, Nov. 7.—It has been discovered that in the city of New London not one straight ballot was cast. This is very unusual. In the city of Kaukauna the polls were advertised to open at 7:00 a. m. and remain open until 8:00 p. m.

Then it was discovered that a law passed in 1911 provides that polls in cities under 5,000 shall be open from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. On account of the fact that the greater number of voters in Kaukauna are railroad men and would be greatly inconvenienced by the later hours, the city board decided to keep the polls open as advertised.

The democratic candidate for sheriff, H. Hagen, was elected by 25 majority. His vote in Kaukauna was 633 as against 306 for Zuehlke, the republican candidate. Now Zuehlke has announced he will contest the election to have the Kaukauna votes thrown out.

CLIPPINGS READ IN DYNAMITERS' TRIAL

Newspaper Clippings Sent by Union Officials to McNamara Introduced in the Trial Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, Nov. 7.—Newspaper clippings about explosions were read at the "dynamite conspirator" trial today as having been sent to John J. McNamara by officials of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

McNamara in a letter as read by Phillip A. Cooley, New Orleans, "I do not want clippings about work, but about certain things that might happen which would be of interest to us."

The government in its opening statement said it would be shown that although Cooley's territory was not affected by explosions, he continually was soliciting them and was negotiating with men to cause explosions.

Paul J. Morrin, St. Louis, sent to McNamara a story of a riot at Mt. Vernon, Ill., April 19, 1910, when an explosion occurred, according to other letters and Edward Synthe, Peoria, Ill., sent further details of explosions there. All these explosions the government maintains, occurred after Frank M. Ryan, president of the union had sent out instructions.

TURKEY FAST LOSING ITS HOLD IN EUROPE

ONLY FIVE DISTRICTS IN EUROPEAN TURKEY ARE NOW HELD BY SULTAN'S FORCES.

POSSESSION MENACED

Reports Are That Saloniki Has Been Evacuated and Turkish Army is Retreating, Threatened on All Sides.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Nov. 7.—Only five districts now remain in the possession of Turkey out of the vast territory in Europe which she has ruled for centuries. Even these five districts comprising Constantinople, Adrianople, Saloniki, Monastir and Scutari seriously are menaced. It is reported that the great stronghold of Saloniki has been evacuated and that the Turkish army stationed in the city has been withdrawn, but no confirmation of this yet has been received. Which direction the retreating army is supposed to have taken was not mentioned in the report, but it is true that the Turks have abandoned the city, sooner or later they must come into contact with one of the armies investing the fortresses, whichever way they take. Monastir also, where Pasha Esad has a large Turkish army under him, is said to be occupied by the allied Balkan troops. Between the Bulgarian army and Constantinople now stand only the Tchatalja which are held by an army that has suffered a series of crushing defeats and that has been rendered, it is believed in military circles, incapable of making any sustained defense against a vigorous assault. Some villages in the vicinity of this last line of defense are already reported in the hands of the Bulgarians.

Will Ask Division.

The Balkan allies will ask for the partition of European Turkey, leaving the fate of Constantinople to the decision of the European powers, according to Premier Pachtitch of Serbia, in an interview today with the correspondent of the Temps in Belgrade.

Turks Beaten.

Cologne, Germany, Nov. 7.—The Turks are reported to have been decisively beaten by the Bulgarians and driven in disorder from their positions at the Tchatalja forts in front of Constantinople, according to a dispatch from Sofia. The fighting was very severe and lasted two days.

COMPLAINS PUPILS PREFER CITY SCHOOL

Clerk of Beloit School Districts Reports Peculiar Condition to County Superintendent.

Complaining that his district is forced to pay $1.75 a month for tuition each of ten pupils in his district who go to the Beloit city schools in preference to the district school, John H. Lentell in a letter to the county superintendent of schools describes a peculiar condition, and asks if there is any possible remedy.

According to the law in the matter any child living more than two miles from the country school and within the district, may go to another district or to the city schools if nearer. District No. 6, town of Beloit borders on the west of the city of Beloit and there are a number of families residing on the outskirts of the city and within the district who are over two miles from the school building. Consequently they prefer to send their children to the city schools which are nearer and according to the law the district must pay for their tuition.

The district clerk complains that this is an additional burden on the district taxpayers as the district must necessarily continue the school for the other 20 or 35 pupils attending. He states that there is also a danger that others living on the edge of the city may decide to send their children to the city graded schools thus increasing the expense.

Mr. Lentell asks that the matter be taken up with the state superintendent but there is very little that can be done to relieve the condition according to Mr. Antidel, as the state law is definite concerning the matter. The situation is a peculiar one and has never before arisen to such importance.

He was in an intoxicated condition at the time of the accident. His two companions, who were in a similar condition, could not be found by the police when the patrol reached the scene. Because of a telephone repair wagon standing across the street from where the unconscious man was picked up it was rumored that one of the telephone linemen had fallen from a pole.

HAD HARD STRUGGLE WITH AN INSANE MAN

Resisted Attempts to Take Him into Custody and Ran Away From Officers Two Different Times.

Stephen Welch, a Janesville man suffering from an attack of insanity was taken into custody by the police today, but only after a hard struggle with the police and two attempts to run away. Welch came to the police office early this morning and complained that someone was attempting to poison him. Chief of Police Appleby asked him to be seated and tell his story in greater detail, but he seemed to be in a hurry and soon went away. Later in the morning complaint was made to the police that Welch was becoming unruly and violent, and the police were asked to lock him up. Patrolmen Sam Brown and Champion responded to the call. They brought him to the station in a carriage and he offered almost no resistance until they tried to put him in a cell. Then he put up a fight and resisted the attempts to search him.

At noon today one of the relatives of Welch persuaded the police to let him take Welch home, stating that he was able to control him. As soon as Welch got outside the north door of the city hall he ran away, to be recaptured soon afterward. After he had been brought back to the building to be escaped for a second time through the front door of the building. Chief Appleby pursued him down Jackson street toward Milwaukee street. Patrolman Jimmie C. Cunniff, around the corner just in time to see Welch was up and grappled with the insane man at the same time as the chief. The two interlocked in such a way that the chief was violently thrown off his feet, but he suffered no injuries. Welch has suffered from mental aberrations before, but they have been of short duration. He may be examined this afternoon.

BEGGAR INSULTED WOMEN BY EXPOSING HIS PERSON

John Andrus, a strange beggar, was arrested yesterday morning after complaints had been made to the police that he was insulting women in different places by indecent exposure of his person. Andrus carries on his body a prominent scar, which he claims was caused by an accident in a stone quarry. He claims his home is in New Jersey. Andrus was sentenced to eleven days in the county jail on his pleading guilty to a charge of drunkenness but arrangements may be made to ship him out of town. Although people are quick to complain of beggars, one can seldom be found who will appear as a witness against them.

LODGE INITIATION—IN THE STONE AGE AND TODAY.

Pretty Compliment.

The Disraelis were visiting Strathfeldsaye in the time of the old duke of Wellington. Going up to the bedroom, Disraeli found his wife and her maid moving the bed from one side of the room to the other. When he inquired the reason, she said: "Well, my dear, the duke sleeps on the other side of the wall, and if I lie against it, I can boast that I have slept between the two greatest men in England."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Punctuality.

Lord Nelson said: "I owe all my success in life to having been a quarter of an hour before my time." "Punctuality is the politeness of kings, the duty of gentlemen, the necessity of business men."—Orison Swett Marden.

Best Exercise.

The best kind of exercise is the kind that makes you forget you are exercising—in other words, play, says a physician. It's a good scheme to have some more or less strenuous game for a hobby—golf or bowling or tennis or archery—anything that appeals to you and affords exercise with interest. But this is not saying that systematic exercise is not a good thing, too.

Theft-Proof Umbrella.

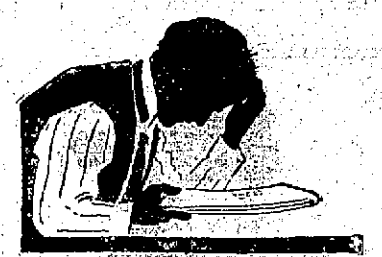

An umbrella made theft-proof by being locked in such a manner that it cannot be opened has been invented by a London cloak-room attendant. The locking device consists of a metal collar, one end of which may be slipped down over the rib tips, and is securely locked to them by revolving the three metal rings. These rings bear the letters and numerals of the secret combination.

Evidence.

"Do you really believe, doctor, that your old medicines really keep anybody alive?" asked the skeptic. "Surely," returned the doctor. "My prescriptions have kept three druggists and their families alive in this town for twenty years."—Harpers Weekly.

Politics and Friendship.

"Have you decided how you are going to vote?" "Yes; but let's change the subject. There's no reason why you and I should not continue to be friends."

WHEN THE DANDRUFF BEGINS TO FALL

You'll know there is something wrong. No one with a healthy scalp has Dandruff—it is not natural.

Healthy, strong hair cannot grow under these conditions and what's far more disturbing, the hair that you have will soon turn grey and fall out. Then comes "PREMATURE GREY HAIR," and that "Has Been Lock" about them.

For Neatness in Clothing.

London has adopted a French industry which aims at neatness. It is that of the "stopper." The word refers to the art of mending clothes. In Paris the "stopper" is well and favorably known. Supposing a gentleman wears his coat or burns a hole with his cigarette in his trousers, the garment is conveyed to the "stopper," who in some mysterious way reconstructs the material. In some way they seem to weave in the stuff, joining up threads of a bit of cloth cut from another part.

Hair Mussed by Lightning.

Edward Kones prefers in the future to comb his own locks and wishes lightning would leave them alone. When his house in Sullivan county was struck the electricity played small furrows about his skull, taking the hair off his head in every place it touched. His injuries, besides destroying his hair, it is said, were slight.—Philadelphia North American.

Though the baseball season is over, Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington American league team, is still using his strong right arm to good effect, according to a story that has just drifted in from Montana. Griffith was deer-hunting out there in Montana somewhere when he was set upon by a wounded deer. He was unable to use his rifle which had been jammed. Nothing daunted, he seized a stone the size of a baseball, threw and struck the animal on the head, felling it. Then he killed the animal with a butt of his gun.

According to Griffith, he would have been seriously injured had it not been for his wonderful ability as a twirler.

Wisconsin certainly looks like the winner of the western football championship. At least Chicago no longer claims the honor.

Everybody agrees that there can be no question as to which of the stake trotters in the Grand Circuit races this past season deserves the blue ribbon. One horse towered head and shoulders above all the others; a veritable giant in a season when there were more than the usual number of high class stake horses racing. That this leader is the brown stallion Eaden it is needless to state. Eleven victories out of sixteen stars on the big ring has made his name familiar to even those the least interested in the sport of harness racing.

University of Michigan football fans have little hope of defeating Pennsylvania when the two teams clash at Philadelphia next Saturday. Although Penn is weak this season, the Wolverines are apparently weaker still. Yost's men have met the Quakers seven times. In four games have they been defeated. There was one tie game, and twice Michigan won.

The efforts of the enemies of football to throw discredit on the game because of the recent death of York, Yale guard, a few days after the Yale-Army game, have fallen flat. "On the contrary," declare his physicians in denying that football caused his death, "it was the athletic training of football which made possible York's remarkable fight against the attack of pneumonia in its early stages. His physical condition was superb and we are convinced he would have died before he did had not his football work put him in such excellent shape."

MILITIA COMPANIES RECEIVE MARKINGS

Pfister Trophy Awarded to Fond du Lac Company—Beloit Company Among Those Honored.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 7.—The Pfister trophy for the best militia company in the state has been awarded to Company E, Second Infantry, of Fond du Lac, and Company G, Second Infantry, of Appleton, each to hold it for six months in the order named.

The twelve companies of infantry that received the highest markings during the army inspections of the Wisconsin National Guard, conducted by Captain Edgar Collins, U. S. A., follow in order of rank: Ripon, Appleton, Milwaukee (Company E, First Infantry), Fond du Lac, Monroe, Marshfield, Neenah, Neillsville, Beaver Dam, Hudson, Superior and Tomah.

The twelve infantry companies receiving the highest markings during the camp and field inspections are: Milwaukee (Company K, First Infantry), Monroe, Appleton, Fond du Lac, Superior, Beloit, Marshfield, Milwaukee (Company A, First Infantry), Neenah, Port Atkinson, Milwaukee (Company D, First Infantry), and Oconto.

The twelve companies, attaining the highest figure of merit during the camps of the W. N. G., firing the marksman's course, Course C, are: Neenah, Fond du Lac, Appleton, Marshfield, Neillsville, Milwaukee (Company E, First Infantry), La Crosse, Oconto, Milwaukee (Troop A, First Cavalry), Fort Atkinson, Beaver Dam, Beloit and La Crosse. Neenah led with a score of 81.65 and Fond du Lac followed with 81.76.

Private John B. Gay of Company F, Third Infantry, won a gold watch for highest aggregate score, and Private J. H. Russell of Company L, Second Infantry, the National Guard trophy, for marksmanship, and Captain Martin D. Imhoff, First Infantry, the Holway diamond badge in the officers' competition for estimating distances, with a mark of .082 percent of errors.

General orders announcing the period from Nov. 1, 1912, to April 30, 1913, as a correspondence school for officers have been issued by Adjutant General Boardman. The officers will be divided into two classes, the senior to comprise field officers and captains, and the junior to consist of lieutenants.

JACK BESSEY'S OPENING PLAY.

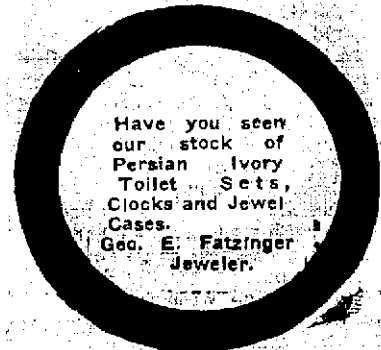

The opening play by the Jack Bessey Company is the four act comedy, "The Suffragette" which will be presented at the Myers theatre Sunday matinee, November 10th. Sunday night Mr. Bessey will present "The Man From Wyoming" and Monday night, "Love and Politics." Mr. Bessey has an unusually strong company this season and will offer an entire new repertoire of first-class plays. Their engagement is for one week only with a change of bill each night. High class vaudeville acts will be presented between acts as every performance which will also be changed with each performance making an exceptionally strong attraction for the money. Mr. Jack Bessey and Miss Nell Paul will be seen in the leading roles supported by a powerful cast. Among the vaudeville features are Eddie Raye and Helen Brandon, who will present a number of comedy singing and dancing sketches during the engagement. This team of clever entertainers are far above the average and no doubt will become great favorites with local theatre goers.

Remember, ladies will be admitted free under usual conditions Monday night.

"FRECKLES"

The producer of "Freckles," A. G. Delamater, has spared neither pains or expense in staging this play in the most elaborate style. In the first place there is an environment in "Freckles" which very few plays possess; chances for scenic investiture amazingly natural and picturesque; and when it is understood that Delamater has brought it up to the highest standard of stage production both from a scenic point of view and by means of a most competent cast, there is a double assurance of merit. Those who have loved the nameless wait for his manly spirit, his light wit, Irish lore, and his beautiful songs; and who reverence "The Swamp Angel" for her beauty and her chaste, womanly character, will meet no disappointment in the play. And that's why "Freckles" is proving still a greater success as a play even than the novel which has been read by over a million souls.

H. L. Blomquist, a very well known merchant of DeCade, Wis., states:—"My wife considers Foley's Honey and Tar Compound the best cough cure on the market. PRESIDENT TAFT.

When people have time to recover from the excitement of the campaign, it will be the most ardent opponents of President Taft to name a personal grievance, for they have none. He has served the people faithfully and well in the high office of chief executive, and had he not been opposed by the man responsible for his being president, his administration would have been endorsed by an old-time majority.

Colonel Roosevelt, in his ambition for leadership, had an imaginary grievance, which was based on the statement that he had disappointed him by not carrying out his policies, and this was exploited so freely that his supporters took it up as a personal matter. It would bother them to tell today what those policies were, or wherein his old friend failed.

The record of President Taft's administration will pass to history as one of the cleanest and most able of any recorded, and it is due the man to recognize his ability and singleness of purpose in the hour of defeat.

There is nothing spectacular about Taft, the man. He is not a politician and not a mixer for the sake of popularity. This may be his misfortune, but it detracted nothing from his ability, and his intelligent conception of public service. The ship of state was safe, in his hands, and he brought it through four years of unrest and troublesome prosperity, with credit to himself and honor to the nation.

There is no occasion for rejoicing over his defeat, and as time passes and history unfolds under a free trade administration, there will be a change of sentiment, and President Taft will grow in the estimation of the people. We have been clamoring as a nation for the progressive, and we are liable to get it with a vengeance. There is nothing like necessity to regulate trusts and all other kinds of business, and the party, soon to assume control, has a reputation for regulating everything downward.

The country will be free from strikes during the next four years, for people will be so busy finding something to do, that the question of wages will be of secondary consideration. History repeats itself with a good deal of regularity, and a review will not be surprising.

The game of politics is a great game, when everything is prosperous, but the poorest kind of sport when things are at low ebb. President Taft was not an expert player, but always a good umpire. It may occur to many of us, later on, that we made a grave mistake in putting him out of the game.

WIND STRAWS.

It is an old saying that "straws show which way the wind blows." The old "saw" applies to surface indications, which are often an interesting study. The radical change of sentiment, expressed in the late election, is already stirring the atmosphere, and how much of a commotion will follow, the future alone can determine.

One of the largest paper mills in the Fox River Valley was preparing to enlarge its plant by an investment of $400,000, but decided to wait until after election, before commencing the improvement. The owners will continue to wait until the policy of the democratic administration is fully defined.

This "straw" which in itself may seem insignificant, assumes importance when the fact is considered that continued prosperity in the industrial world means enlarging factories and a liberal investment in betterments. The spirit, which influences the Fox River paper mill men is the prevailing spirit, when radical changes are in sight, and while there is no blow of trumpets, the disposition to retrace and pursue a conservative policy gradually develops.

It is the gentle zephyr, which disturbs the straws, and is the forerunner of a lack of confidence which usually follows. This was what happened in 1893. Capital decided to wait until after election, and so much of it was on the waiting list before inauguration day, that many industries were seriously crippled.

The same old party is again ready to take the saddle, and the same feeling of uncertainty is again in the air. Retrenchment is as certain to follow as time is to pass. Just how far this may extend, no man can tell, but the chances are that it will result in an era of economy sufficient to regulate the high cost of living, and give us a taste of hard times, for it is never but a step from prosperity, across the line. We have the satisfaction of knowing that we enjoyed the music, and have no occasion to complain when the fiddler passes the hat.

A WORK OF PHILANTHROPY.

The Wisconsin Humane society has been established in Milwaukee, with Emmanuel L. Phillip as president. The first issue of the Humane Herald, a monthly magazine, has been issued and contains the following tribute to a Janesville worker who recently died: "The Wisconsin Humane Society, and the Rock county branch in particular, have lost a valued friend and worker in Miss Melissa Chittenden, whose death occurred recently, following an illness with typhoid fever. For many years Miss Chittenden has been actively interested in humane work and at the time of her death was secretary of the Janesville society. She was a member of a number of other societies and a business woman besides; yet she found time to aid the dumb and helpless around her. Miss Chittenden's place will be hard to fill." The Humane society is entitled to every encouragement. Its work is devoted to a kingdom which is unable to speak for itself. The price of the magazine is $1.00 per year. Buy it and help the good cause along.

Senator La Follette refused to play in Colonel Roosevelt's back yard, during the campaign, and it is doubtful whether the two aspiring leaders will become very intimate, while waiting for something to turn up. The brand of ambition which they entertain is difficult to gratify, as there are not parties enough to go around. This makes it embarrassing. During the war a local preacher addressed an audience in Lappin's hall, urging the boys to enlist, and said he would go himself if he was able to stand the marches. A fellow in the back of the house shouted: "Jine the cavalry!" It may be necessary for the two great statesmen to "jine" the ranks, and give their enmity and ambition a chance to cool off.

The Chicago Tribune congratulates itself in the great victory secured by the defeat of Col. Roosevelt and the republican party, and out of the ruins proposes to construct a new party to its own liking. Old Father Time has the reputation of straightening out many tangles and he will be on the job with both feet, long before the dawn of another national campaign. The nation will be treated to an exhibition of progressiveness, under the administration of President Wilson, and so many people will be running to cover, that the new party will be lost in the shuffle. The "Tribune" is a great newspaper, but a mighty poor political dictator.

Colonel Bryan's ambition to live under the shadow of the White House will doubtless be gratified, as he is likely to be favored with a cabinet portfolio, by the man whose nomination he secured at Baltimore. That he will be ready to offer advice on occasion is a foregone conclusion, as he has always been long on suggestions. It will be interesting to watch developments at Washington after the fourth of March. The democratic patriots have been out so long, and the crop is so abundant that there will be a general scramble, all along the line, and the new president will discover that they are not all in the primary department.

If there was any great principle involved in Colonel Roosevelt's campaign, the democrats throughout the country did not discover it. His support came from the old republican states, where "anything to beat Taft" was the slogan. The glory of this kind of a victory is of doubtful character; to say the least, and in the sober second thought of the aftermath, there will be no occasion for rejoicing.

If the final returns confirm the election of McGovern, the margin is so small that there is no occasion for a jubilee. The state administration has been given to understand that the people generally are disgusted with extravagance and the reckless waste of money. If the lesson is taken seriously, as it should be, there will be something done along the line of practical reform.

Professional.

An editor's little boy had picked up much of his father's professional vocabulary. After his father had explained the meaning of the word "hereditary" he considered the matter thoughtfully for a moment. "I see," he said, "it's a kind of 'continued in our next'."

Feather Duster Passing.

The feather duster is rapidly disappearing. It must go as surely as the common drinking cup. It is only a little while since the feather duster was universal. Now 60 per cent. of the cities have discarded it from the school buildings.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT
By ROY K. MOULTON.

A Voter's Dilemma.
I went to hear Tom Marshall speak. He is a man of note. I like the fellow, through and through. By jing, he got my goat. When he got through his argument, I want to tell you that I quit the G. O. P. Right there. And turned Democrat.

Next day I heard a feller speak. They call him Sunny Jim. His last name, it is Sherman, and I thought a heap of him. When he got through expounding facts never heard before, I sort of changed my mind and turned Republican once more.

Bill Bryan hit our town next night. I always fall for Bill. He kin charm birds out of the trees, his voice gives me a thrill. When he got through that evenin' And had give his farewell grin, I'd changed my mind once more and was A Democrat again.

A cyclone struck our town next day. A slight earthquake was felt. Which turned our village upside down. His name was Roosevelt. He is the derndest talker that I guess is runnin' loose. I turned a somersault right there And came out a Bull Moose.

A lot of fellers reach our town. And each one has to speak. And every durned one captures me. I switched five times one week. You ask me what I am right now? The answer can't be wrote. I guess the last one fer to speak, Is goin' to get my vote.

From the Hickeyville Clarion.

Prof. Jimkey's Catarrh and Mandarin orchestra are ready to furnish music for dances, funerals and other society events. Fast and slow music a specialty. Miss Lucie Bibbins is learning to play on the phonograph at this writing. Cal Binks greased his nose with shoe blacking instead of arnyk in the dark the other night and didn't find it out until two days later when he drove to town to sell a crate of eggs.

Last Sunday at the meetin' house Elder Huddnutt proposed that the church give something for the orphan's. Deacon Stubbs arose and proposed that they give three cheers for the orphan's. Rev. Huddnutt has started a crusade in the tunk game in the back of the grocery store. He is getting too many poker chips in the plate at the meetin' house and in these days of financial stringency he is having trouble cashing them.

Heart to Heart Talks.
By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE OLD HORSE.

Old Bill is no beauty. He is knocked as you can see where he stands there, obedient to your will. Fifteen years ago his legs were as trim as a young thoroughbred's. They have sagged in your service. With pride in his going qualities, you drove him pell-mell over hard roads. You let him stand by a hitching rack while you daffled. Stamping in summer at the flies and in winter to keep his blood in circulation, pounded over pavements—what wonder he is knocked?

His old head droops. Once he had a lordly neck, "clothed with thunder." You used the overcheck, causing a painful tension of the flexor muscles of the neck, hindering free respiration and circulation and causing quick fatigue. He can't hold up his head very long. Bunches of gray hair on his back? Saddle galls made by your hard riding in his willingness to go your gait. When you hurried for the doctor or rode to catch up with the other fellows, you forgot about the blanket under the saddle.

Sweened also. You did that. The collar of a set of harness did not fit Bill's shoulders, and the hames of the plowing set were not properly adjusted. Sometimes when the season was dry and dusty Bill's shoulders were galled and sore. But he never complained. His eyes are bad. You see, his normal vision, as of all horses, is more earthward than upward, but you reined his head up, causing eye strain. And then sometimes the harness had blinders and sometimes it had none. Dust and lack of sunshine helped. And when Bill got a cinder or dust in his eye he never spoke about it, and you failed to notice the fact. You see the animal simply couldn't wipe his eyes.

Blennishes? Plenty. Note the bumps and scars on old Bill's legs. There was a time when he interfered and you did not have him properly shod. In winter he was turned into a small field fenced with barb wire. On account of his high rein he sometimes stumbled on the hard road and bruised his legs. Some good in him yet? Sure. You haven't quite killed him. Sometimes when his digestion is good and there is a level stretch of road he can go some. It is pathetic to note, though, how quickly he is played out. As he stands there, so you have made him. And in spite of your abuse he loves you and whinnies on your approach.

Take good care of old Bill! Else, sometime or somewhere, it may go hard with you.

The Nebraska members who are fighting the raise will endeavor to have a special session of the legislature called before January 1 to pass a law prohibiting an increase in the rates of a fraternal order without a referendum vote of the members.

ANDREW D. WHITE EIGHTY YEARS OLD

Former Ambassador to Germany, and First President of Cornell University Celebrates Birthday.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Andrew D. White, first president of Cornell University and former ambassador to Germany, attained his eightieth year today and was the recipient of a flood of congratulations from the trustees, faculty and students of Cornell and other friends throughout the country. Dr. White was born in Cortland County, this state, in 1832. He graduated from Yale in 1855 and spent the next three years in European travel. In 1857 he became professor of history and English literature at the University of Michigan. This position he resigned in 1862 on account of ill-health, and a year later became a member of the New York senate. At the expiration of his term in the senate he was elected first president of Cornell University, a position which he held until 1885. During his presidency at Cornell his work was by no means confined to the university. In 1871 he was a member of the United States Commission to San Domingo, and from 1874 to 1881 he was minister to Germany. After his resignation as head of Cornell he served successively as minister to Russia, member of the Venezuelan Commission, ambassador to Germany and head of the American delegation to the peace conference at The Hague. With his educational and diplomatic service Dr. White has combined much diplomatic labor and is the author of many valuable scientific works.

CHEROKEE INDIAN RIGHTS INVOLVED IN SUIT AT LAW.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—The rights of 5,000 Cherokee Indian freedmen to lands valued at from $5,000,000 to $50,000,000 are involved in the case of the Keetsewah Society and others against the Secretary of the Interior, which came up for hearing today before the supreme court of the District of Columbia. The Keetsewahs are full-blooded Cherokees, who object to the freedmen participating in the distribution of the tribal assets.

Wonderful Bargains:

An occasion of bonafide reductions throughout the store for one whole week, Merchants' and Manufacturers' week, November 11 to 16th—the most important bargain event in recent years. We intend making that week one that will be remembered in the retail shopping world—a week that will overreach any former attempt at bargaining by this store. We could dwell at great length upon the tremendous price cuts, we have made; but it is unnecessary—every item speaks for itself. The great rush that this whirl of bargains will bring, here may sweep some lots out in a short time, so we cannot assure late comers of finding all they have decided upon. But don't let this warning deter you from coming, for there will be enough of most everything to more than make it worth your while attending. As always, we will refund your money if your purchase is unsatisfactory.

BOOSTERS' BRIGADE START FRIDAY FOR A WHIRLWIND TOUR

Meanwhile Auditorium is Busy Place Preparing for the Made in Janesville Exhibit.

That Janesville will be placed on the map of Rock county by the enthusiastic "booster brigade" that will start tomorrow on a whirlwind tour of the county advertising the greatest bargain week for shoppers and the "Made in Janesville" exhibit at the Auditorium, is assured now and chairman Amerphol, of the advertising committee expects fully thirty autos and over a hundred boosters to take part in the demonstration. The party will start shortly after eight from the front of Amerphol's flower shop of South Main street, Friday morning. They will make a tour of the entire county, taking in the main traveled thoroughfare and visiting cities and towns in this and adjacent counties. Twelve thousand circulars will be distributed and it will be a great event for Janesville boosters to demonstrate what they can accomplish when presenting a united front.

Meanwhile the decorators, carpenters and designers are busy at the Auditorium. Under the direction of Edward Amerphol, the ceilings and also the side walls, have been skillfully draped with long streamers of foliage, Japanese lanterns until the effect is that of a tea garden from the orient. Long streamers, with strange and weird lanterns of wonderful type and hue, needing only a few Geisha maidens to make the visitor step from the busy River street into a Japanese region.

Seats are being erected on all sides of the hall and down the middle. At the end of the hall will be the exhibit of the Amerphol flower shop and, with the back ground of a wood scene, just painted for the new Apollo theatre, it will be a delightful spot. Nearby the New Gas Light company will have their booth and so on through the hall.

That with the boosters' brigade starting tomorrow and the "Made in Janesville" week opening on Monday, Janesville promises to be, well advertised. Already the metropolitan papers have announced the coming show and commented favorably on it and all this means general advertising for Janesville throughout the country. All automobile owners who will furnish their cars for the trip are asked to do so and all retailers and citizens anxious to help boost Janesville are invited to be at the Flower Shop shortly after eight, to accompany the party. It is not an invitation affair, beyond asking the car owners to donate their cars.

CANCELED LICENSE OF WILLIAM KNIPP

Council Refuses to Postpone Final Action in Matter of Plea of Counsel for Mr. Knipp.

In spite of the plea of William A. Knipp for a week's adjournment of his hearing, made through his attorney, John L. Fisher, the council yesterday proceeded with the revocation of his saloon license to take effect as soon as served. Mr. Knipp did not appear in person, and his attorney made no defense for him except to ask for time in which he might dispose of his stock, rent matters, and attend to other business matters. He said that Mr. Knipp would not lose his license, but $400 rent on the building he occupies, and on what stock could not be sold before the closing of the saloon.

Mayor Fathers thought there was no reason why the saloon stock could not be disposed of after the place was closed. Mr. Knipp had been given several days of grace and he should have completed his transactions in that time. The city attorney had been lenient with him as it was, and a few days more time would make little difference to him. He thought it best to proceed with the hearing.

Chief of the Municipal Court A. C. Thorpe was sworn and testified that the court records of the case in his possession were the official ones. He read them to the council and the court stenographer, Miss MacLean, entered them in the testimony of the hearing. Miss MacLean was also sworn and read from her notes the testimony given by Mr. Knipp in the case against him. The city attorney drew up a formal order for the revocation of the license of Mr. Knipp which was adopted by the council and signed by each member and the city clerk.

DIRECT DISORDERLY PERSONS TO LEAVE

Chief of Police Appleby Informs Them That All In-City After November 16 Will Be Prosecuted

Chief of Police George Appleby today notified all disorderly women characters in the city of which he has knowledge, to leave the city within ten days' time. All found in the city after November 16 will be prosecuted under the state laws. The notice applies to all disorderly women characters, and not only those notified in person. Mayor Fathers thought it best to give them a few days in order to prepare for an exodus, so that they will have no excuse for returning. The Chief and the Council have decided to make the "cleanup" permanent, and the orders will be carried out to the letter. Violators need expect no leniency from them.

BUY ONE THOUSAND FEET OF FIRE HOSE

Council Lets Contract to Bi-Lateral Hose Company of Chicago—Seven Firms Were Bidders.

One thousand feet of fire hose will be purchased by the city from the Bi-Lateral Fire Hose Company of Chicago. The contract was let to this firm by the city council at its meeting late yesterday afternoon, their bid being eighty cents per running foot. Seven bids in all were received from various different companies, and they ranged from 80 cents to $1.10 a foot. Most of the hose now used by the fire department was made by the Bi-Lateral company and has outlasted its guarantee of a life of three years.

The council received and placed on file the report of the Board of Education, and also ordered it published. The petition of the Board to borrow within legal limits such money as would be required for current expenses until the tax levy becomes available was accepted and placed on file.

The plumber bond if John R. Boyle of Beloit, to excavate in the city streets was approved, but will not be accepted until it has a second signer according to law. As it was presented to the council it had but one signer.

The Petition of Cecil Citta to move a building from 617 Prospect avenue to 193 Palm street was referred to the Superintendent of Streets. Because the route to be taken in moving the house leads across the Fourth avenue bridge the council thought it best to see how large the building is before granting permission. They will probably demand that the moving across the bridge be done at night in order that traffic might not be interrupted.

An Appeal to the Public of Janesville and Surrounding Country

The Greatest Shoe Bargain Event Ever Pulled Off In This Part of the State.

$12,000 Worth of High Grade Shoes to be Distributed to the Homes of the People at Less Than Manufacturer's Cost.

The people of Janesville and surrounding territory are certainly going to be benefited by the big bonafide sale of the entire stock of King Cowles & Field's which will begin Saturday, Nov. 9, and continue until Nov. 23.

Every article in stock will be ruthlessly slaughtered at prices less than they could be purchased at the factory in case lots. The reason for this great money-saving sale is the backward season. This store has not done the large amount of business it anticipated and therefore they have inaugurated this great sale in order to dispose of the entire Fall and Winter stock in 13 days regardless of cost or profit.

This sale will be the opportunity of a lifetime and will prove a great boon to the people who are never slow in taking advantage of such a chance as this mighty sale will afford.

This firm has never carried any but the most dependable and reliable shoes and hundreds of people are expected to be in attendance daily during this great sale, as the people realize that when they can purchase high grade shoes at less than manufacturers' cost, it is high time they grasped the chance.

Extra sales people will be in attendance in order to serve all quickly without delay, and rare bargains will be offered.

It is expected that King Cowles & Field's store will be a Mecca for the hundreds of bargain-seekers during this great sale which will positively open Nov. 9th, 1912, and close Nov. 23. Come prepared to get bargains.—Advertisement.

CASHMAN AND FORD GIVEN TWENTY DAYS

Plead Guilty This Morning to Receiving Grapes Stolen From Hanley Brothers.

Hugh Cashman and Peter Ford, on the advice of their attorney Henry Carpenter, this morning plead guilty to an information filed against them by District Attorney Stanley Dunwiddie, charging that they unlawfully received twenty-five baskets of grapes, worth $3.75, stolen from the wholesale fruit firm of Hanley Brothers. Judge Fifield sentenced them to twenty days imprisonment in the county jail, and received from them the promise that upon the expiration of their sentence, Cashman and Ford have already served about twenty days in the county jail, eight days on a charge of intoxication and the rest of the time awaiting their examination and trial. They were told that if they came back to Janesville the charge of burglary would be pressed against them.

HIRST MAY ADDRESS THE COUNTY BOARD

State Highway Engineer Will Probably Talk to Supervisors at Regular November Meeting.

It is probable that A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer, will address the Rock county board of supervisors at their regular November session which begins next Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 12. A letter has been received by the county clerk from the highway commission asking the permission for some member of the board on the matter of road construction. It is thought that Mr. Hirst will be the man sent. Highway matters will doubtless be important business for the board at this session, although the highway commissioner's report will not be given until the January meeting.

Committees of the board have begun sessions to look over bills and prepare reports.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy
A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for croup, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

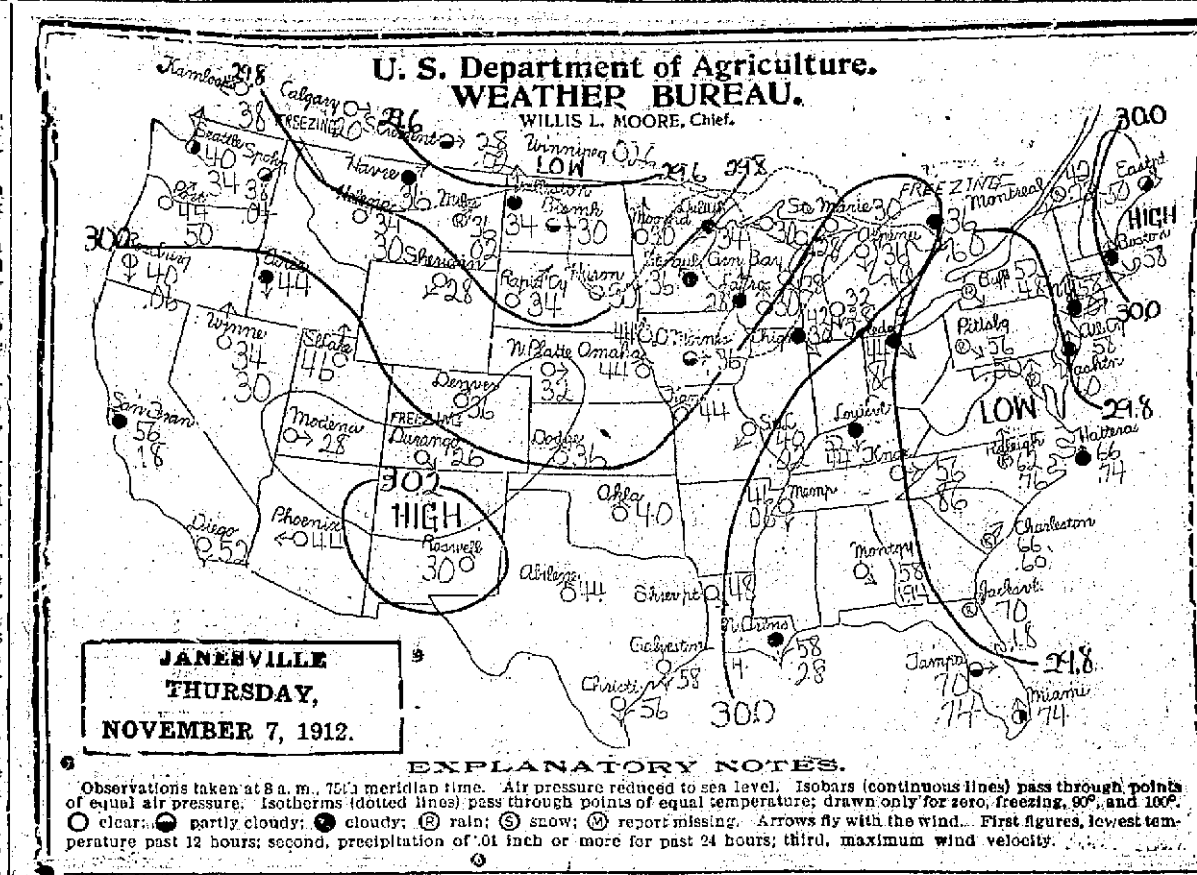

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in quinine and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

There's dollars for you in a trip to Janesville for Merchants' and Manufacturers' week Nov. 11 to 16th.

REHBERG'S

Boys' Clothing--High Quality

--Reasonably Priced.

Everybody likes to see a manly boy and nothing so gives a youngster that air of importance as a neat, well-fitting suit. Boys are hard on clothes as a rule, but as parents you expect it, and the best you can do is to get textiles that will wear and not attempt to buy the cheap, flimsy articles simply because low priced. We are so satisfied with the quality of our all wool clothing that we make a general proposition that any boy's suit bought here which does not wear as well as you may expect it, you may return and we will replace it with a new one. Furthermore, our prices are considerably lower than elsewhere.

Pocket Knife Free

With any purchase of a Wooley Boy $5 suit we will give absolutely free a beautiful two-bladed pocket knife in a handsome leather case. The knife is well made and will delight the heart of any youngster.

Advice to Alpine Climbers

In the earlier part of the nineteenth century many even of those who had been up Alpine peaks themselves denounced the sport. Regarding the ascent of Mount Blanc, Murray's Handbook in the year 1838 stated that "all who have succeeded have advised no one to attempt it," and nearly 20 years later noted the "remarkable fact that a large proportion of those who have made this ascent have been persons of unsound mind."

GIVES RURAL SCHOOL A SEVERE CRITICISM

BOARD OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS REPORT ON WISCONSIN DISTRICT SCHOOLS STATES FACTS PLAINLY.

CONDITIONS DESCRIBED

Loose Methods, Much Carelessness, Woeful Inefficiency and Occasional Craft Are Terms Used.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 7.—Loose methods much carelessness and occasionally craft are evident in the school district audits. The statistics of common school finances in Superintendent Cary's biennial report are inaccurate. In the records of town clerks balances on hand change over night in 147 out of 254 towns examined. "In every district investigated," says the Board of Public Affairs' Report on Rural Schools, except one, the annual financial statements, by district clerks as reported to the County Superintendent were found to be incorrect. School buildings and grounds are in bad condition. Out-houses are indecent. Sanitary conditions are poor. School rooms are poorly lighted and ventilated. The state department of Public Instruction in supervision of rural schools is inadequate. County supervision in a few cases, is woefully deficient.

The report calls for radical improvements in the rural school system and lists a series of desirable changes in rural school administration. These have been heartily approved. When published separately, by Wisconsin school men all over the state.

Efficient Inspectors. These results were discovered in the investigation conducted by the State Board of Public Affairs under the general direction of Dr. William H. Allen, director of the Training School for Public Service, conducted by the Bureau of Municipal Research of New York and under the immediate supervision of Mr. S. G. Lindholm. They had assisting them in the work: Mr. A. N. Farmer, formerly superintendent of schools, St. Cloud, Minn.; Dr. Horace L. Brittain, formerly superintendent of schools, Hyde Park, Mass.; Dr. Edward A. Fitzpatrick, formerly of the New York High School of Commerce—all of the training schools; Mr. F. S. Stanley, accountant State Board of Public Affairs; and for a limited time, three Wisconsin school men, Messrs. A. H. Myer, J. H. Stevenson and G. A. Geyer.

The report says: "In obtaining and interpreting the facts here reported we have received the unstinted cooperation of state and county superintendents, teachers and other individuals interested in public education in all parts of Wisconsin. The findings are based upon a general examination of conditions in 27 counties in widely separated portions of the state and upon a more detailed investigation of conditions in 131 schools in 13 counties."

Conditions Described. A remarkable part of the report is a series of description of actual conditions as they were observed. This part is happily named "Snap Shots." One of these describes a remarkable change in a community due to the determined efforts of three public spirited citizens. Another describes a specially poor schoolhouse in which nothing could be done because of petty and personal differences between factions at the annual meeting. And so the pictures follow, good and bad alike. The first and last of these snap shots is given in full. The first is:

"This is a school situated in one of the wealthiest farming communities in Wisconsin. Farm lands are rated at $150 to $200 an acre, until a buyer desires to buy and then he is likely to learn that he cannot buy the farms at all. Every farm is well improved; not only are there stone silos, spacious barns and other commodious farm buildings, but even the farmhouses are well built and appear to be most comfortable homes. The school ground was small—25 yards by 24 yards—uneven and unkempt. The out-house was unscreened. A board partition only separated the boys' closet from that of the girls. The door on the boys' side was hanging on one hinge. The interior was indescribably filthy and unfit for use."

School a Mere Shack. "The school building was a mere shack built 60 years ago, constructed of matched lumber without any siding. It was painted dark green. The approach and steps were dilapidated and in poor repair. The corridor was partly filled with soft coal; the dust had spread over the whole floor and was packed into school. Entering the schoolroom, the investigator found conditions within even worse than those on the outside already described. The floor was littered; coal dust and pieces of coal were scattered around the old stove; the teacher's desk was in disorder; the room was much overheated, doors and windows were shut tight to exclude the cold and the air was so vitiated as to be sickening. The lighting was unusually poor. The four small windows, two on the east side and two on the west side, were dirty and half covered by shades; the walls and ceiling were dark; the ratio of window area to floor area was 1-17."

"The children were dull, listless and drowsy. The teachers were simply helpless. Her salary was $28 a month, the lowest paid any rural school teacher visited during the investigation. Physically she was unfit to teach school. On account of her poor health, her experience, her lack of training, the physical condition in which she was working, she was incompetent and hopelessly weak. Eleven children were enrolled; two had withdrawn, leaving nine pupils. The program provided for 37 recitations."

No Interest Shown. "The school day consisted of six hours—9 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 4 p. m. Thirty minutes were used up for recitations and 15 minutes for opening exercises, leaving five hours, 15 minutes for the 27 recitations or 8-15 minutes per recitation. Deducting three minutes for calling and dismissing classes and taking into account the usual interruption by pupils at seats leaves less than 5 minutes per recitation. During the recitation heard, the children showed no interest whatever and so far as the investigator was able to judge, the time was absolutely wasted. The teacher used most of it in scolding and nagging the children, to which fortunately they had become accustomed and so cared but little, if at all."

The last is: "One school inspected had a jacketed stove, floors, ventilation, excellent hard pine goods, well shelled, a water crock and a fair equipment of apparatus. But the room was dirty, the children listless and the teacher apathetic. The teacher showed good steadily during the two hours the investigator was in the room. She was uncultivated in speech and coarse in appearance. There was a good plant wasted because the board had no appreciation of what a teacher should be and do. An interesting sidelight on the situation is shed by the fact that the teacher was in her fourth year of service in the same school at $25 per month."

Numerous Good Points. A good part of the report is devoted to pointing out specially good points in the rural schools of the state. It shows that in spite of defects in organization, lack of authority, and inadequacy of clerical help on the part of county superintendents, many instances have been found where a strong personality has found ways of effectively directing school boards, supervising teachers, starting instruction in useful arts and helping teachers to be leaders in community life. "One striking illustration of such leadership," the report continues, "is furnished by Oconto County, which differs not so much in the kind as in the number of forward steps taken."

At the end of the report are a series of legislative and administrative remedies. Among the remedies are county boards of education, to be elected at the general school election; appointment of the county superintendent by the county boards; better pay for county superintendents; higher qualifications and higher pay for the teachers; effective supervision; more equitable distribution of school funds; and a new classification of rural schools.

WE REPRESENT THE IDEAL LADIES' TAILORING CO. OF CHICAGO. J.M. BOSTWICK & SONS. We make garments to your individual measure. Orders taken at the Dress Goods Department.

New Dress Fabrics of Quality

At no time in the history of Fashion have good dress materials shown to better advantage; or poor ones to a greater disadvantage than at the present day. Narrow skirts and straight line effects demand good fabrics; otherwise, the style is so general there is nothing to make a suit or gown distinctive. Therefore, the woman who desires to carry an air of distinction should select most carefully the goods from which her costumes are to be fashioned.

In all wool and silk and wool fabrics those made by the Garfield Worsted Mills, Jamestown, Collingwood, B. Priestley & Co., and others; (for which we are exclusive representatives) are most satisfactory, and have the manufacturer's guarantee. Perhaps it might be well to enumerate a few of their merits that those women who have never worn them, may know some of their good qualities.

Elegance and durability—due to fine Australian wool and the best silk being used in their manufacture.

Up-to-date and of perfect texture—owing to the great care given to the designing and weaving. Non-fading in color, because the best dyes are employed to give them richness of tone and shade that neither time nor wear change. Below we mention a few numbers of extraordinary value, but a personal visit is necessary to get an adequate idea of the stock.

We have also an elegant assortment of sheer materials for party and evening gowns, they are Brocade Marquises, Silk Striped Voiles, etc. These come in all the pastel shades and are very desirable for the pleated and draped effects.

THE REASON

King, Cowles & Fifield, one of Janesville's most dependable shoe firms, anticipating an immense fall business, bought extremely heavy and as the early fall business has not been what was expected, on account of a backward season, their store is packed from cellar to garret, with brand new shoes and the proprietor, realizing that they must do a most phenomenal business to unload this immense stock of shoes, have decided to sacrifice their entire profits rather than take chance on dubious weather later.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

"LITTLE PITCHERS HAVE BIG EARS."

LITTLE pitchers have big ears" is surely a familiar proverb, and yet how often you meet people who do not seem to credit their children with any ears at all, or at least with the ability to use them. At any rate, that is the only way I can explain their conduct. For while the youngsters are right in the same room, perhaps standing close beside them, listening intently, these people repeat the cute things they have said, describe their funny ways and in general discuss them just as serenely as if they were not there.

And then these same fond-parents are grieved and puzzled when their children develop huge bumps of self-consciousness!

A dear little girl about four years old has visited our neighborhood every summer since she was born. The last time she came she was the quaintest and most unconsciously adorable little thing you ever saw, and we all looked forward to this summer's visit. But alas! This year Eve was a totally different creature. She talked incessantly. She repeated her funny little tricks so many times that they soon ceased to be funny, and she never said anything cute without obviously waiting for applause. The change was so great to have been merely the work of time, and as soon as we saw the baby with her mother we realized its cause.

Eve would start to tell a story and preface it with some funny little remark, and her mother would say in a loud aside, the kind they use on the stage, "She actually let the youngsters hear them laughing at the naughty things they have done."

After a few scenes like that no one wondered any longer what had transformed our quaint little friend.

Now it's bad enough to laugh at and praise a child's cunning tricks in his presence, but there are some grown-ups who go even farther than this. They actually let the youngsters hear them laughing at the naughty things they have done.

For instance, a bright little five-year old has just developed the habit of making up queer yarns which he tells for truth. The yarns show a great deal of imagination which is good, but the child is too old to pretend they are true and his mother says she is trying to teach him better. And yet the other day I heard her telling a doting grandmother how he went over to a neighbor's and told a long yarn about his mother being sick and having sent him there to play. And although both women made some pretense of calling the child naughty, they were so evidently amused that even the child could see that they really thought him funny, and fearlessly interrupted to tell his grandmother some more of the story which his mother had left out.

"Little pitchers have big ears" is a mighty good proverb, to remember when you are talking about family secrets, but still more so when you are discussing the youngsters themselves.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Sweet Peppers.

Remove seeds after cutting off tops. Place peppers and tops in salt water for 24 hours. Fill them with chopped cabbage into which put the whole seed of mustard. Put on the tops, tie up pack in chest-nut-vinegar boiling hot, pour over them enough to cover and set away. They will be ready for use in a month or six weeks.

To Use Leftover Ham.

Two good ways to use up leftover boiled ham:

Boil macaroni as usual. Grease well a baking dish. Put in layer of macaroni, then layer-chopped boiled ham, for top layer have macaroni. Between and on the top put some pieces of butter and bacon dripping (or pure lard), so as to make it rich enough. Add one cup hot milk. If liked, have some grated cheese on top. Bake from one-half to three-fourths hour in moderate oven. Serve hot in baking dish.

Have six big potatoes peeled and sliced about 1-2 inch thick (cross-ways); boil in salted water. Wash one-half cup rice; boil in three times as much water. In 15 minutes both are done enough. Now have well greased baking dish ready. Make first a layer of potatoes, then rice, then ham (cut fine). Top layer should be potatoes. Have it rich enough with a lump of butter, from dripping or lard in and on it. Add one cup hot milk. Bake one-half to three-fourths hour. Serve hot in the same dish it was baked.

The Kiddies' Stockings.

When buying hose for the children, mark each pair, before they are washed, with colored thread or floss, and they will be much easier to mate. Have a different color for each child. Instead of darning children's stockings torn at knee, cut out torn part, then stitch together again on wrong side; seam hardly shows and looks much neater than darned. Also, dye all faded dresses for children a dark blue; won't show soil as faded clothes will.

To save on children's stockings—When the knees begin to be worn, cut the foot off at the ankle, turn it around and sew on again, thus bringing the part that was on the knee underneath; stockings will wear as long as the feet are good.

To Keep Cream Sweet.

Here is what we have found to be a sure way of keeping cream sweet: Wash clean one quart, remove each end but do not peel, place in bottle of cream. We have found it to keep cream sweet eight days.

The Table.

Dressing—Prepare bread in usual way; season with butter, pepper and salt, then moisten crumbs with any broth and add two eggs. Make dressing into balls (about size of a potato cake), put in a skillet, nearly cover with broth and cook or steam about one hour. They are very nice and light and look nice served on a chop plate garnished with parsley.

Dumplings—One pint flour, two teaspoon baking powder, half teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup sugar. Mix thoroughly and wet with small cup of milk. Roll out half inch thick, cut with biscuit cutter. Good for any kind of stew.

Mock suet pudding—One cup Orleans molasses, one cup boiling water, one teaspoon soda in water, one-tablespoon butter, one teaspoon cinnamon, half nutmeg grated, two cups flour, one cup raisins. Steam 1-2 hours.

Always Fairy Tales.

There has never been a language spoken that has not been used for telling fairy tales. Whether in hot lands or cold, among savages or the most cultivated nations—why, not a moment passes in which some one, somewhere, is not telling a fairy tale, or listening to one, or reading one, or perhaps writing a new one. Which makes it delightfully probable that we shall always have them with us, however scarce the fairies may have made themselves in these prosaic and practical days.—St. Nicholas.

The Universe an Accident.

The universe, together with its parts, is nothing but a number of accidents, ever changing and being renewed at every breath and linked together in a single substance and at each instant disappearing and being replaced by a similar set. In consequence of this rapid succession, the spectator is deceived into the belief that the universe is a permanent existence.—By Nur-Addin 'Abd-Alrahman Jami.

Scientific Melon Raising.

Spanish farmers who raise melons plant into the seeds of those specimens which at the family table were found particularly sweet, fragrant, and pulpy. By this process of selection they bring it about that sometimes there is a whole plantation without a single flavorless melon in the crop.

The KITCHEN CABINET

NOW in the names of all the gods at once! Upon what must doth this our Caesar feed? That he is grown so great?

DISHES, FOR COMPANY.

The following dishes may be suggestive when something extra is wanted for an occasion:

Egg Plants with Poached Eggs.—Cut three small egg plants into halves, remove the tops and cook until tender in boiling salted water, then drain. Mix half a cup of strained tomato pulp with a quarter of a cup of chopped ham and a tablespoonful of melted butter. Season with pepper and salt, and fill the egg plant with this mixture. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Bake for five minutes. Put a poached egg on each half and serve.

Mushrooms Baked.—For twelve large mushrooms, take a teaspoonful of parsley, an egg, salt, pepper and red pepper, two tablespoonfuls each of veal and bread crumbs, one tablespoonful of suet and half a cup of stock. Chop all the ingredients and mix with the eggs. Wash and remove the stems from the mushrooms. Season with salt and pepper; place a small piece of butter in each cup and a teaspoonful of the forcemeat in each. Cover with bread crumbs, put into buttered baking dish, pour the stock around them and bake fifteen minutes in a moderate oven. Serve in the baking dish.

When making a white sauce to serve with creamed potatoes, a delicious accompaniment is a cup of stewed celery.

Fried Celery.—Cook small heads of celery until tender, then cut into halves, dip in beaten egg, roll in fine bread crumbs and fry in smoking hot fat. When a light brown in color, remove and sprinkle with pepper, salt and parsley. Serve piled log cabin style.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN, Food Specialist

FRUIT SUGAR ANTIDOTES AUTO-INTOXICATION.

Professor Metchnikoff has discovered that sugar, converted from starch foods or the sugar of fruits, has a beneficial effect in antidoting auto-intoxication by retarding the growth of harmful bacteria in the intestine. Probably no fruit is better for this purpose than the apple eaten in a natural state. An exclusive diet of apples for a week or longer greatly reduces the number of bacteria in the excretion. Such a diet is beneficial in many cases. Any acid serves as an antidote to auto-intoxication, but the best is the malic acid of the apple or lactic acid of buttermilk.

A distinguished Russian physiologist has found that milk requires less secretion, in the stomach and intestine, than any other food, for its digestion. Meat requires more gastric secretion than any other food and, when bread is eaten with meat, the secretion is more copious than when either is eaten alone. As digestion is dependent upon secretion, the conclusion is drawn that benefit results from eating two or more foods together. But Pavlov has already shown that each food requires its own peculiar secretion, and it has recently been discovered that diabetes and perhaps cancer and many other serious diseases are due to disorganization of the secretions, this discovery appears to be a strong argument in favor of the monodiet.

SPEAK! I COMMAND YOU!

What part of flower?

SNAPSHOTS BY BARBARA BOYD

The Woman Who Never Knows Her Happiness

SHE had a very beautiful home, and she wore pretty frocks. Her hats were the envy of all her friends. And her husband was cheery and even-tempered. Yet her mouth had a melancholy droop, and her voice was mostly a wail.

"What beautiful flowers you have," said a friend gazing in admiration at a big, sunny window full of blooming plants.

The woman looked at them discontentedly.

"Do you think so?" she said. "I don't think our flowers are pretty."

"What a lovely dress that is you have on," exclaimed another friend, at another time.

The woman viewed it with dissatisfaction. "Oh, I don't know," she replied. "It doesn't fit very well. And the color isn't becoming."

"That's a dandy auto your husband has," admired a neighbor as the motor stopped in front of the door.

The woman gazed at it rather peevishly. "I didn't want him to get an auto," she said. "I never have a minute's peace when he is out with it. I know he'll be killed or crippled for life."

And so it goes. You can't mention a thing that woman owns, that there isn't something wrong with it. Her milliner charges her outrageous prices. Her piano isn't as sweet-toned as it might be. Her entertainments are always dismal failures, no matter how delightful her friends may think them. Her trips are always tiresome; and she doesn't see, anyway, why people don't stay home, instead of forever gadding about. Her cook is wasteful, and doesn't season things just as she likes them. Even her husband, she confides now and then to an intimate friend, does try her at times.

And all the beauty and comfort and luxury and happiness that is hers, she really is unconscious of.

Her husband ought to pretend a failure in business, and move her into two rooms with no carpet on the floor and a wood stove and a second-hand cot to sleep on. She ought to have to live on beans and take in washing. He ought to work up a fictitious elopement with a charming lady, and do a few more of these things, to open her eyes to the blessings that really are hers.

Else she might as well turn them over to somebody who can enjoy them, and be the worm in the dust crawling through a vale of tears which evidently now is her cherished belief.

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS

By Edna K. Wooley

Beautiful hair, I urged her.

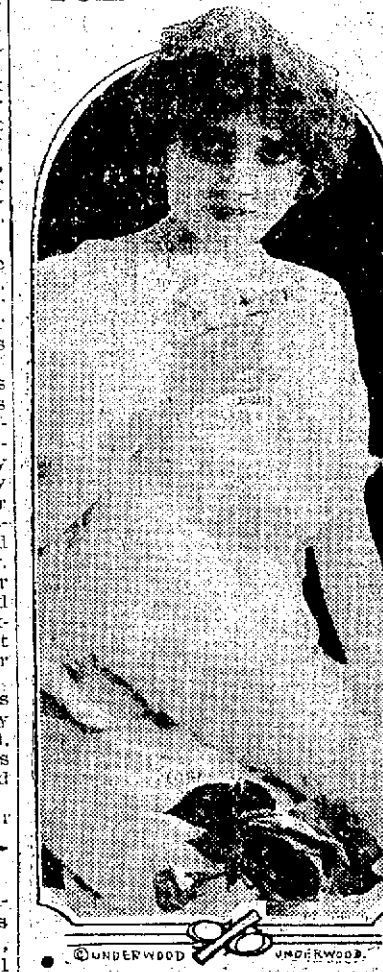

"Well, maybe I will, she answered."

"Two days after our flat building got a fire. We flat-dwellers gathered in the hall somewhat simultaneously, everybody excited, of course. Somebody clutched my arm and wept hysterically. 'Oh, dear oh, dear, oh, dear!'"

"At first I didn't recognize the angular, flat-chested woman with the thin, mouse-colored hair gathered into a button at the back of her head. Then, with a shock, I realized that it was my handsome neighbor with the beautiful golden hair!"

In her flight at the alarm of fire, she had run out without her wig and pads. "It's always puzzled me," I thought, concluded the hairdresser, as she stood off to view the coiffure she had just finished. "To know how she kept her husband deceived. Of course, he wasn't home much—he was a traveling man. But I know he was absolutely sincere that evening when he told her to follow my example and let her hair hang loose. I wonder if she wore the wig to bed when he was home?"

The most costly of all the white animal hairs imported is that of the camel. The camel is commonly of a dirty brown color, but parts of its body may be white, as may be streaks in its mane, called veins. The camel's hair is of superior strength, and its fine white hair of sufficient length is used as a substitute for natural white human hair. White hair of the camel is worth $25 an ounce.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson—What should a young wife call her mother-in-law? I know one who always speaks of her as "Mrs."—not "Mrs. Smith"—just "Mrs." It that proper? B. E.

"Why not call her mother?" She is her daughter-in-law's second mother, you know. The title "Mrs." may be accepted as all right in the one instance, but it does not seem very dignified or loving.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I have a class of girls from 6 to 10 years of age. I wish to entertain them at my home, but am at a loss how to amuse them. Can you give me any suggestion?

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER. You might have puzzle pictures. They can be bought or you can make them by cutting up magazine covers to be put together again by the children. They should not be too difficult.

There is much fun in the string-and-raisin game. A raisin or marshmallow is tied in the middle of a long string. Let the children each take an end of the string in the mouth and the one who can chew the string first to the raisin, without using the hands, gets the raisin.

"Jerusalem" is a good lively game for children. Chairs are set in a row, alternate chairs facing opposite ways. Play a lively march on the piano while the children march around the chairs. Then suddenly stop and everybody must find a seat. As there is one seat less somebody is "out." Continue with one chair less each time until there is only one chair for two players and everybody is watching to see which of the two gets the chair.

"London Bridge, 'Drop the Handkerchief'" and "Pussy in the Corner" are all enjoyed by children.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1)—How can I reduce my fat? (2)—Should a girl of 15 refuse if a boy asks to take her home? (3)—How old should a girl be before she attends dances? (4)—How should a young lady wear her hair? BEAUTIFUL BROWN EYES. (1) Take a lot of outdoor exercise and don't be afraid to do housework. Do not eat candies or fattening foods. Squeeze the juice of half a lemon into a cup of hot water and drink before breakfast every morning. (2) If he is a nice boy it would do no harm to accompany her home, especially if there are several in the crowd.

(3) She should not go to any dance without one of her parents or some older person selected by her mother or father to accompany her, until she is 18 at least. (4)—The present styles are very simple. The hair is waved smoothly over the ears and gathered in a loose knot at the back of the head, at the most becoming angle.

You Should Have Seen the Pimples

But Now Her Face is the Fairest of the Fair, Due to Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Those pimples are like pearls in a ruby cluster when Stuart's Calcium Wafers clear the face of every pimple, spot and blemish. And even if you haven't pimples, the clear, transparent skin of a healthy Calcium Wafer complexion is more radiant than the deft touch of an artist to the most exquisite water color.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers act directly upon the sweat glands of the skin, since their mission is to stimulate the excretory ducts. They do not create perspiration, but cause the skin to breathe out vigorously, thus transforming perspiration into a healthy vapor. The Calcium sulphide of which these wafers are composed, consumes the germ-poisons in the sweat glands and pores, hence the blood makes a new, smooth skin in a surprisingly short time.

You will never be ashamed to look at yourself in a mirror, once you use Stuart's Calcium Wafers. Nor will your friends give you that hinting look, as much as to say—for goodness sake, get rid of those pimples.

There is no longer any excuse for anyone to have a face disfigured with skin eruptions, when it is so easy to get rid of them. Simply get a box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers at any drug store and take them according to directions. After a few days you will hardly recognize yourself in the mirror. The change will delight you immensely. All blemishes will disappear. All druggists sell Stuart's Calcium Wafers at 50 cents a box.

TELLS OF DISTRESS AMONG BULGARIANS

MRS. MITKO RADOYKORA WRITES TO MRS. STARR ATWOOD DESCRIBING SITUATION.

REASON FOR CONFLICT

Outlined by Woman Who Has Visited Several Times in Janesville— Gives Thrilling Story of Actual Conditions.

In view of the present situation between the Balkan states and Turkey, some Janesville people may be interested to hear from Mrs. Mitko Radoykora, formerly Miss Stirkla Pelashera. She was a college friend of Mrs. Starr Atwood and has visited in Janesville several times. She was studying in Moody Bible Institute and working among the Bulgarian immigrants in Chicago when the news of her mother's very poor health induced her to return to her native land. Upon arriving there she taught for a year under the American Board of Foreign Missions, in the mission school where she had received her education at Sankook. At the close of the school year she was married to a native Christian. They soon moved to Rouschouk (sometimes called Pyce) a large city in the northern part of Bulgaria on the Danube river. Here Mr. Radoykora teaches art in a public college. Because of his good work he was to have a leave of absence for one year for further study, but was unable to go because of the war.

Mrs. Radoykora is in no danger. There is no fighting in that part of the country where she is located. The following is a letter to Mrs. Atwood, written just before the formal declaration of war.

Dearest Cora:— I am drowned with tears while I sit and write. Our condition is one that you people cannot imagine. We are living through the life that only Bulgarians, Macedonians and Armenians can live through—not Americans. I want to write and explain all I can, but Oh, it is so hard!

The day I received your letter and wrote you the postal which told a little of the situation, we were informed of the fact that war is at hand. You can imagine me! The city bells rang, the drums beat on the street to say that within twenty-four hours every man should be at his post. That meant that he must appear wherever he was born or had already served in the army, there to be dressed as a soldier ready to start. That is called forming the army in one day, ready to start for war if the signal is given. As soon as I heard that I knew that my husband was to go to Samokov—four or five hundred miles from here—where he must appear and serve. No one can travel but the men. Everything is closed for the women. I was in so much and could not comfort myself all alone in the house. In an instant came my dear husband and we both wept for tonight he must start. The one comforting thought left in our minds was that he was not to be in the first ranks of soldiers, but in some other work until the war was so severe that every one was wanted at the front. I sewed a bag for him to carry his clothes and food for the journey.

The city is full now of men who have come from villages and towns around, all dressed as soldiers, ready to start if the demand is given. The streets are full. You can see a crowd as on Clark street, Chicago, in every direction all soldiers with guns and bayonets fixed to the rifle. It is queer but true that most men want to fight.

Now as to the cause of all this. We are not the ones that suffer from the Turks. As you know, Bulgaria is an independent kingdom, but Macedonia is our former province and also, some parts near Constantinople are still under the Turkish yoke. They are our people—our race. They are oppressed and suffer from the Turks as do the Armenians and Albanians. Many times we have asked the Sultan to free these people under good conditions, but as you and all the world know—the Sultan is a demon and will not give freedom, although he promises and never fulfills. Now our Bulgarians said we shall fight and buy the freedom with blood.

Our government has proposed to the Sultan our last conditions: "Reform in Macedonia or war." Serbia, our neighbor, Montenegro, Greece and Russia are already on our side. Real bad war has not begun yet although there are many attacks on the boundary line. Soldiers and all are on foot waiting the Sultan's answer. It takes so long for that—to decide anything.

Mitko has started already and gone to Samokov. Mamma and I are in distress and alarm. I dare not cry any more for it hurts me. We, the women friends, are comforting each other and wiping each other's tears. I wish we were in America! Happy you are there! I wonder why God has allowed all this? Why are you people so full of blessings and we so needy and oppressed? All such thoughts one can have in these hard times.

This morning's mail brought me your good letter and the present from you folks there. Oh, what a sunshine that was in my home! How can I thank you enough? I am unable now, later I will write you a long, cheerful letter. Just now we are so sad and lonely. The streets are full of soldiers—brave men up to fifty years of age—marching on, waiting for the last command. Tomorrow is the anniversary of our independence, proclaimed four years ago when I was in Chicago. A last decision is to be made on that day—that is, our ministers will meet and declare war or peace, according to the argument. You can imagine how our hearts burn and await that day. Follow the news in the papers and you will know if Bulgaria is at war.

Our mail is not regular and telegraph is too busy with other news so an ordinary telegram takes three days to come. Mitko has been gone a week reached Samokov and is still well and at home. I am in a hurry to mail this. It seems that every day brings worse news. We are so worried and anxious that I can't write more. Good bye for now. Pray for us. If you read that Macedonia is free—all well and you will be glad for us—I will remember only what hard times we have lived through! If you read that Bulgaria fights you may be sure of our distress and weeping. For one month we are provided for. After that God only knows! No money, no food or fuel. I have only $10 at hand. Salaries are not paid any more and everything for food is so expensive that people will starve.

I hate to tell you this news, but what better than to have a friend like you to whom I can tell all my sorrow? Remember me to my friends. My love to you and all your family.

As ever,
Stirkla Pelashera Radoykora.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.
THE TONGUE.
(By Howard L. Rann.)
THE tongue is a small, restless article that is used to convey thought which otherwise would evaporate. Some people use their tongues so much that there is no chance for evaporation or for anybody else to get a word in edge-ways.

As generally located, the tongue is swinging on a pivot in a handy place, to catch the currents of thought from the brain. When there are no such currents, it picks up anything that comes along and converts it into the kind of conversation heard in the smoking apartment. The tongue is fastened at one end only, and this enables it to vibrate rapidly both pro and con and wiggle in a violent manner when turned loose upon some subject with which it is not familiar. Some of the most rapid gestures made by the human tongue are caused by a surplus of misinformation. There are two types of tongues—feminine and masculine. On account of its length and tenacity of purpose the feminine tongue is spoken of in terms of severe condemnation by broken-spirited husbands, but it is far out-classed by the masculine tongue, which can be started, put to rest, and brought right through the Sunday school hour without stopping for coal or water. The masculine tongue is a short, blunt article, used mainly for political purposes, and is seldom dismayed by the facts. The tongue is useful to man for other purposes than that of speech. It is handy to have during an argument over the back fence, as a woman can express some very soulful thoughts by merely running it out in the direction of a vindictive neighbor. It is also used as an organ of taste, but when it has been burned to a mellow crisp on hot soup it loses all interest in the meat and becomes an innocent colorless. The most expensive form of tongue is the opera singer type, which will not move out of its tracks for less than $2,000 per move. The best kind is that which forgets the gossip it bears, and refuses to peddle anything but sunshine and good cheer.

TO CLEAN PAPER

To make a paste that will clean wall paper, mix a quart of flour with five cents' worth of ammonia and enough water to make a stiff dough, and knead until smooth. Then wipe the paper with the dough, working it so that a clean surface will be presented with every stroke, and the wall paper will look like new.—New Haven Journal Courier.

DOCTORS ADVISE OPERATIONS

Saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Swarthmore, Penn.—"For fifteen years I suffered untold agony, and for one period of nearly two years I had hemorrhages and the doctors told me I would have to undergo an operation, but I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am in good health now. I am all over the Change of Life and cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly. Every woman should take it at that time. I recommend it to both old and young for female troubles."—Mrs. EMILY SUMMERSGILL, Swarthmore, Pa.

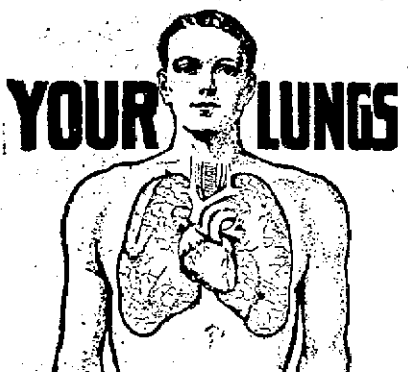

Baltimore, Md.—"My troubles began with the loss of a child, and I had hemorrhages for four months. The doctors said an operation was necessary, but I dreaded it and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The medicine has made me a well woman and I feel strong and do my own work."—Mrs. J. R. PICKING, 1260 Sargeant St., Baltimore, Md.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Jane Austen Unpopular.
It has been pointed out with some surprise that the late W. S. Gilbert had a strong dislike for Jane Austen, but a correspondent of the New York Evening Post reminds us that Mark Twain had a similar antipathy. He said once that "a library that does not contain Jane Austen's works is a good library, even if it hasn't another book in it."

Really Hard Luck.
"Did you see anything?" whispered the burglar on guard as his pal emerged from the window. "Now, de bloke wot lives here is a lawyer," replied the other in disgust. "Dat's hard luck," said the first. "Did you see anything?"—Ohio State Journal.

The Lady of the Mount

"I should remember even them," was the quiet reply.
"Those, too, but lately brought from St. Deland?"
"True, true! There may be some of those—uncertainly."
"No doubt! So if you will lower your lamp, which smells rather vilely—"

Twelve O'clock, and all's—
A few moments later, his call, suddenly remembered, rang, belated, in the drowsy air. "Twelve o'clock and all's well! A new day, and St. Aubert guard us all!"

A sword and a blade;
A drab and a jade—
The words, scarcely begun, above his breath, died away on the seeming soldier's lips, as the watcher, on the bridge, looking down to follow first the departing figure of the old custodian, crossed quickly to the opposite window, and, from this point of vantage, gazed up after the young man rapidly vanishing in the track of the moonlight. A moment the onlooker stood motionless; then, one figure, so vividly defined in shine and shimmer, made an abrupt movement and swiftly left the window and the passage.

At the head of the steps, which without further incident or interruption, he reached, the Black Seigneur, stepping to the shadow of a small bush against the wall, glanced about him; with knit brows and the resolute manner of one who has come to some definite conclusion, he left the spot of observation, almost the apex of the Mount, and plunged diverging to the right. From glint and glimmer to darkness unfathomable! For some time he could only grope and feel his way, after the fashion of the blind; fortunately, however, was the path narrow, and no serious mishap befell him, even when he walked forward regardlessly, in feverish haste, beset with the conviction that time meant all in all, and delay the closing of the toils and the failure of a desperate adventure. Several times he struck against the stones; once fell hard, but picked himself up; went on the faster, only, after what seemed an interminable period, to stop.

"Am I, can I be mistaken?" But the single star he could see plainest from the bottom of the deep alley, and to which he looked up, answered not the fierce, half-muttered question; coldly, enigmatically it twinkled, and, half-running, he continued his way, to emerge over-suddenly into a cooler well of air, and—what was more to be welcomed!—an outlook whereof the details were in a measure dimly shadowed forth.
On one side the low wall obscured not the panorama below—a ghost-like earth, fading into the mist, and near the roof of the archway, the volcano rook; but in this direction the man hardly cast a glance. Certain buildings ahead, austere, Norman in outline, absorbed his attention to the exclusion of all else, and toward them, with steps now alert and noiseless, he stole; past a structure that seemed a small salle des gardes whose window afforded a view of four men nodding at a table within; across a space to another passage, and thence to a low door at the far corner of a little triangular spot, alongside the walk and near a great wall. At once the young man put out his hand to the door; tried it; pushed it back and entered. Before him a wide opening looked out at the sky, framing a multitude of stars, and from the bottom of this aperture ran a strand, or rope, connecting with an indistinct object—a great wheel, which stood at one side!

CHAPTER XXII.
The Whirling of the Wheel.
As old as church or cloister, the massive wheel of the Mount had, in the past, played prominent part in the affairs of succeeding communities on the rock. It, or the hempen strand it controlled, had primarily served as a link between the sequestered dwellers, and the flesh-pots and material comforts of the lower world. Through its use had my lord, the abbot, been enabled to keep full the mighty wine-butts of his cellars; to provide good cheer for the tables of the brethren, and to brighten his cold stone interiors with the fresh greens of Flemish tapestry, or the sensuous hues of rugs and fabrics from seraglio or mosque. Times less ancient had likewise claimed its services, and even in recent years, by direction of his Excellency, the Governor, had it occasionally been used for the hoisting of goods, wares, or giant casks, overcumbered for men or mules.

Toward this simple, monkish contrivance, the summit's roiling lift, or elevator, wherein serfs or richmen had walked like squirrels in a cage to bring solace to generations of isolated dwellers, the Black Seigneur had at first stepped impetuously; then stopped, hardly breathing, to look over his shoulder at the door that had been left unfastened. An involuntary question flashing through his brain—the cause of this seeming carelessness—found almost immediate answer in his mind, and the certainty that he stood not there alone—a consciousness of some one else, near, became abruptly confirmed.

"What are you doing, soldier?" A voice, rough, snarling, drew swiftly his glance toward a presence, intuitively divined; an undersized, grotesque figure that had entered the place but a few moments before and now appeared from behind boxes and casks where he had been about to retire to his mattress in a corner.
"What do you want?" repeated this person, the anger and viciousness on his distorted features, revealed in the moonlight from the large opening, like that of some animal unwarrantably disturbed.
"You, landlord of the thieves' inn!" And inaction giving way to movement on the intruder's part, a knife that had flashed back in the hand of the hunchback, with his query, was swiftly twisted from him and kicked aside, while a scream of mingled pain and rage became abruptly suppressed. Struggling and writhing like a wildcat, Jacques proved no mean antagonist; with a strength incredible for one of his size, supplemented by the well-known agility of his kind, he scratched, kicked and had managed to get the other's hand in his mouth, when making an effort to throw off that clinging burden, the Black Seigneur dashed the dwarf's head violently against the wooden support of the place. At once all belligerency left the hunchback, and, releasing his hold, he sank to the ground.

An instant the intruder regarded the inert form; then, going to the door, latched and locked it with a key he found inside. Having thus in a measure secured himself from immediate interruption without—for anyone trying the door would conclude that there or in the store-house beyond—the Black Seigneur walked to the aperture, and reaching up, began to pull out the rope from a pulley above. As he did so, with feet braced, he leaned over to follow in its descent a small car along the almost perpendicular plank from the mouth of the wheel-room to the rocks, several hundred feet below.

A sudden slackening of the rope—assurance that the car, at the end of the line, had reached the loading-spot below without the fortifications—and the young man straightened; in an attitude of attention, stood listening. But the stillness, impregnated only with a faint underbreath, the far-away murmur of water, or the just audible droning of insects near the figures on the rocks, continued unbroken. An impatient frown gathered on his brow; more eagerly he bent forward to gaze down, when through the air a distant sound—the low, melancholy hoot of an owl—was wafted upward.

Upon him at the aperture, this night-call, common to the Mount and its environs, acted in magical manner, and swiftly had he stepped toward the wheel, when an object, intervening, stirred; started to stagger to its feet. At once was the young man's first impelling movement arrested; but, thus forcibly drawn from his purpose, he did not long pause to contemplate; his hand, drawing the soldier's sword, held it quickly at the hunchback's throat.

"A sound, and you know what to expect!"
With the bare point at his flesh, Jacques, dully hearing, vaguely comprehending, could, indeed, guess and the fingers he had involuntarily raised to push the bright blade aside, fell, while at the same time any desire to attempt to call out, or arouse, the guard, was replaced by an entirely different emotion in his aching brain. Never before had he actually felt that sharp touch—the prelude to the final thrust. At the sting of it, a tremor ran through him, while cowardice, his besetting quality, long covered by growl and egotism in his strength and hideousness to terrify, alone shone from his unprepossessing yellow features.

"You were brave enough with the soldiers at your beck!" went on a determined voice whose ironical accents in no wise served to alleviate his panic. "When you had only a mountebank to deal with! But get up!" contemptuously. "And," as the hunchback obeyed, his crooked legs shaking in the support of his misshapen frame, "into the wheel with you!"
"The wheel?" stammered the dwarf.
"Why—what?"
"To take a little of your own medicine! Pard! What a voluble fellow! In with you, or—"

With no more words the hunchback, staggering, hardly knowing what he did, entered the ancient abbot's machine for hoisting. But as he started to walk in the great wheel at the side of his captor, a picture of the past—the times he, himself, had forced prisoners to the wheel, stimulating with jeer and whip—arose mockingly before him, and the incongruous present seemed, in contrast, like a black waking dream.

That it was no dream, however, and that the awakening would never occur, he well knew, and malevolently though fearfully he eyed the rope, coming in over the pulley at the aperture; to be wound around and around by a smaller wheel, attached to the larger, and—drawing up what?
An inkling of the sort of merchandise to be expected, under the circumstances, could but flash through his mind, together with a more vivid consciousness of the only course open for him—to cry out, regardless of consequences! Perhaps he might even have done so, but at that instant—as if the other had read the thought—came the cold touch of a bare blade on his neck; and with a sudden chill, the brief heroic impulse passed.

More stealthily now he began to study his companion in the wheel, while a question, suddenly occurring, reiterated itself in his brain. This man—who was he? And what did he know of the mountebank, or his Jacques', dealings with the clown? That his captor was no soldier of the rock, or belonged there, the hunchback felt by this time assured, and a growing suspicion of the other's identity brought home with new force to the dwarf the thankless part chance, perhaps, had assigned to him—in that night's work. And at the full realization of the consequences, should his surmise prove correct—what must ultimately happen to himself in that event, when unwilling co-operation at the wheel should become known—almost had he again reached the desperate point of calling out; but at that moment a turn in the wheel brought to the level of the aperture, the car. In it, or clinging thereto, were a number of figures who, as soon as the rope stopped, sprang noiselessly to the platform.

"Seigneur, we hardly dared hope—" "We obeyed orders, but—" Gazing through the spokes of the wheel, and listening to their whispered exclamations, any lingering doubt as to who his captor was could no longer be entertained by the hunchback. These newcomers took no pains to conceal it; even when the dwarf's presence became known to them and unconsciously was he dragged forth—they displayed a contemptuous disregard of him as a factor to interfere, not calculated to dull the edge of his apprehension! Too late now might he regret that pusillanimity that had caused him to draw back from an immortal role; already was the car again descending!

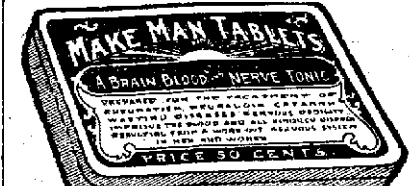

It came up loaded; went down once more, reappeared. On the little platform now were more than a dozen men assembled, but to Jacques this force looked multiplied. Amid the confusion of his thoughts, vaguely could he hear orders given; caught something about the need for quiet, haste, overpowering the guard; then saw the door open, and the men, like shadows, go out; leaving him alone.
No; with two black figures; ominous; armed. He could see the glitter of their weapons, and ventured to move his thick tongue, when, fiercely silenced, he crouched down; waited, with hands clenched, an interminable period; until faintly from afar sounded the note of a night-bird.

Insane Asylums.
The great Greek physicians had devoted much attention to insanity, and some of their precepts anticipated modern discoveries, but no lunatic asylum appears to have existed in antiquity. In the first period of the monastic life a refuge is said to have been opened for the insane at Jerusalem, but this appears to have been a solitary instance, arising from exigencies of a single class, and it may be said that no lunatic asylum existed in Christian Europe until about the time of the fifteenth century.

Surely Had Forgotten, Something.
An Eastbourne, Sussex (England) woman recently started on a railway journey with the uneasy feeling that she had forgotten something. This turned out to be correct, for she had to take the next train back to pick up her child, which she had left on the station platform.

William M. Chase, at the recent sale of his pictures in New York, said to a reporter. "Yes, these are all good things—things collected with great care. 'Well, the shock will come,' the teacher answered, 'when you see what you have drawn.'"

Jones was taking a walk in the country just outside Warrington when he was surprised to find a man perched on the top of a sign post which bore this inscription: "This will take you to Liverpool." Jones was quite unable to make out why the man sat there, so he called out, "What are you up there for?" "Be-gorra," the man replied, "I've been sittin' here for two hours, and I'm wondering what time it starts."

Forty Years Ago
Janesville Daily Gazette Nov. 7, 1872—Rock County Delegation: The following is the result of Tuesday's election in the five assembly districts of Rock county: 1st district, Evans over Mills, 200; 2nd district, Sayre over Searling, 730; 3rd district, Cheever (no opposition), 956; 4th district, Felt over Thomas, 734; 5th district, Patterson over Doe, 271. In all but the first district the regular republican candidates have been elected. In the first district Evans bolted the nomination, went in as an independent candidate and defeated Mills (republican nominee) by the majority indicated in the above table. Evans, however, is a republican, and was elected with the understanding that he should cast his vote in the legislature for the re-election of Senator Howe. The Rock county delegation is therefore solid for Howe. Major H. N. Davis, our senator-elect, having undoubted preferences in that direction. The assembly districts of Rock county are made up as follows:
First district: Avon, Center, Magnolia, Plymouth, Spring Valley, Union.
Second district: Fulton, Lima, Milton, Janesville, Porter.
Third district: Bradford, Clinton, Harmony, Johnston, La Prairie, Rock.
Fourth district: City of Beloit, Towns of Beloit, Newark, Turtle.
Fifth district: City of Janesville.
Brief items: At 4:15 p. m. today, Hon. B. W. Keyes, chairman of State Central Committee, in reply to a telegram asking the probable majority of the state, says: "It looks as though it would exceed 15,000." The set of weights recently purchased by the city has been weighed in the county balance and found wanting. Knott, the city sealer, is making up the difference by adding lead.
The November session of the county board of supervisors convenes on Tuesday next. The committee on claims has been in session at the clerk's office today.

UNCLE WALT
The Poet Philosopher
Copyright, 1909, by George H. Brown Adams
BY WALT MASON
The long sad months of noise and shrieking come to an end, at Time's behest, and orators, worn out by speaking, can give their battered lungs a rest. How sweet to know an end of yawning, of all the worries campaigns meant! Now we can do our Christmas shopping on buoyant legs, with minds serene. Now we can gambol through the city unhindered by the tariff bores, and wear a smile and sing a ditty, as glad as any one outdoors. Relieved of all the hurly-burly, the screams of warring candidates, we'll do our Christmas shopping early throughout these wide United States.
END OF CAMPAIGN How sweet it is to go a-walking, and hear no wrangling, near or far, no arguments or tiresome talking of income tax or I. and R! How pleasant when the local daily prints something else than campaign junk! We'll do our Christmas shopping gaily, and buy enough to fill a trunk! How sweet to see men safely, sanely, pursuing tasks well worth their while, instead of thrashing "issues" vainly, dispensing language by the mile! Farewell, farewell to foolish yawning, to tiresome men with tiresome jaws; it's time to do our Christmas shopping and put in hicks for Santa Claus!
Be Modest.
Never seem to affect the character in which you wish to shine. Modesty is the only sure bait when you angle for praise. By modesty I do not mean timidity and awkward bashfulness. On the contrary, be inwardly firm and steady, know your own value, but take care to let nobody discover that you know it. Whatever real merit you have, other people will discover and people always magnify their own discoveries, as they lessen those of others.—Lord Chesterfield.

NOTHING LIKE PATIENCE
Bill—I never lose my temper when a man shoots me.
Pete—But you didn't waste any time on Bad like.
Bill—No. But I didn't lose my temper. I've learned by experience that nothing keeps a man from shooting straight like losing his temper.
Documentary Evidence.
The geography class was in session. One small pupil astonished the class by stating that in a certain section of South America there were talking monkeys. When the teacher questioned the statement, the youngster opened his geography and triumphantly read: "This region is inhabited by a species of monkey, properly speaking, apes."—The Delicatore.
Raises Butterflies for Profit.
J. W. Neuman has a butterfly farm at Bexley, Kent, England. He sells upward of 50,000 insects a year at prices varying from two cents to $50 each, as well as quantities of ova, larvae, and pupae, at remunerative rates. He regards $5,000 as the minimum figure for his sales in the year.

SHE HAD PROOF
Katherine—You ought to have heard Mr. Squeezer's ringing speech last night.
Virginia—Why, I wasn't aware that he could make a speech.
Katherine—Well, he made one, just the same. I can't repeat the speech, but I can show you the ring.
What is the Use?
If a man succeed by acting on your advice he feels that he would have acted as he did without being advised by you, and if he fails because he neglected to heed your advice he blames you for not making it stronger than you did. So what's the use?
—Chicago Record-Herald.
